

Online Courses for High School Students
1-888-972-6237

Civics

Course Description:

Welcome to American Civics. This course is a study of the United States government, and your special relationship with it as an American. As you work through its lessons, you will learn how our government and economic and political systems are supposed to operate. After you have completed this course, you'll find you'll be a much better judge deciding who might be right or wrong in those media covered controversies between government and private citizens, government and special interest groups, even government verses government issues. You'll understand why the founding fathers wanted the colonies to break away from England, and why they set up the United States government as a republic instead of as a democracy. In other words, initiating and completing this course will help you to become a much more knowledgeable citizen with a clearer understanding why so many gave so much that you might enjoy the great blessings of liberty.

Prerequisites: None

Course Length: One Semester

Required Text: None

Course Outline:

- Unit 1: Civic Life
- Unit 2: Foundations 1
- Unit 3: Foundations 2
- Unit 4: State-Local
- Unit 5: City Government
- Unit 6: Political Parties
- Civics Final Exam